

"BREWERY OF THE MONTH"

Manhattan Project - Dallas, TX

PLUTONIUM-239 COCONUT PORTER (ABV 6.2%, IBU 25)

Do you like the coconut Girl Scout cookie? And do you like coffee? If your answer is yes to both, then this is your beer. Plutonium 239 might be our most memorable beer. Could be the name, but we're betting it's the unique flavors of the beer. At first sniff, you will immediately detect coconut, chocolate, and a wonderful roast. Like all good Porters, the carbonation is low and the body is medium.

NECESSARY EVIL PILSNER (ABV 5.3%, IBU 30)

We set out to create a Pilsner that we would drink. The beer needed to be slightly complex with a bit of our signature style while avoiding everything we dislike about most Pils. Our version of a Pilsner is dry, crisp, and has a hint of hop character. The floral aspects of the hops, not the bitter, so please make sure that H word is never mentioned to your light beer friends. If you get real nerdy during your tastings, you will also pick up on herbal qualities. Like all Pilsners, ours is light in body and color.

HALF-LIFE HAZY IPA (ABV 6.2%, IBU 33)

Half-Life is always a crowd favorite for both craft beer aficionados and those new to the beer scene. It is an unfiltered Northeast inspired IPA with an aroma that is interesting without being overpowering. Upon first sip, you will immediately pick up on the citrus characteristics. Soon to follow will be stone fruit and pine. But this is not a bitter IPA, friends. It is perfectly balanced with a focus on the delicious aroma. Half-Life finishes with a subtle and wheaty breadiness. It's so perfectly light and crisp that it would be an amazing session beer if it weren't for the 6% ABV, so sip and enjoy.

HOPPENHEIMER WEST COAST IPA (ON DRAFT) (ABV 7.4%, IBU 68)

This beer was created for the IPA lovers out there. It is a perfectly balanced West Coast American IPA with huge dank hop aroma. At first sniff, you will detect pine, resin, and delicious citrus. Once you finally steal a sip, you will discover that Hoppenheimer has just enough malt and subtle caramel to keep the IPA characteristics in balance. It has medium body and carbonation. IPAs can start to blend together with that glorious pine aroma, but this one is different. Because of its balance, it manages to be a hoppy beer you can drink all afternoon.

Tasting Notes from Manhattan Project Beer Company